Over 1200 Turn Out At Pavilion to Witness Amateur Contest Friday

Seats at a Premium; Loree Martin, Red Deer, Takes First in Senior Class, and Rhythm Band Wins in Junior Class

With seating accommodation at a premium in the Central Alberta Pavilion, the Amateur Contest and Big Dance sponsored by the local branch of the Canadian Legion, on Armistice night, last Friday, catered to the biggest crowd seen in the Pavilion since the opening night of the building, some years ago. The affair was well organized by the returned men, and everyone attending went home completely satisfied with the good entertainment provided and the enjoyable time spent. Nineteen contestants, some of whom were of outstanding amateur merit, competed for the prizes. The four judges had to re-check their scores several times, so close were the runner-up contestants to the prize winners. The four judges were seated in separate parts of the building, and marks were scored on the basis of: Talent, Technique, Popular Appeal and Stage Presence. The following were the prize winners:

Senior Class—First, Loree Martin, Red Deer, assisted by Don McLevin, Pat Mooney and Bert McCune in an adagio act; second, Joan Carter, Fred Krause and Bruno Comis, Red Deer, adagio act; third, Bud McKnight, Calgary, cowboy yodeller.

Junior Class — First, fifteen youngsters, ranging from 4 to 11 years of age, in a Rhythm Band playing the "Camel Train"—the band included Clifford Hergot, conductor; Patsy Garries, Dick Damron, Diana Henry, Isobel Henry, Jean Chowen, Rowena Wright, Lloyd Holmes, Leslie Holmes, Don Garries, all from Bentley, and Francis Spence, Margaret Leppard, Gladys Munro, Leah Broderson and Peter Arnott, from Red Deer. The band was trained by Miss Brenna Reed. Second prize, Paddy Martin, Red Deer, acrobatic dance; third, Iveigh Wilson, Red Deer, song and tap dance; 4th, Margaret and Billy Bell, Lacombe, duet and Dutch dance.

Gives Exhibition Dance

Mary Martin, Red Deer, last year's first prize winner, who was not a contestant this year, gave a finished exhibition of dancing, featuring the famous "Stair Dance," which was loudly applauded. T. Wilkes made a capable master of ceremonies and introduced each of the contestants. The dancing floor was taxed to its capacity during the dance.

The presentation of prizes to the winners was made by Mrs. S. Edmunds, president of the Lest-We-Forget Club, which organization assisted in sponsoring the event and took charge of the catering arrangements.

Miss M. Buelow Resigns From Hospital Staff

The resignation of Miss Mae Buelow from the Community Hospital here was accepted "with regret" by the board members at their regular monthly meeting, held in the Town Office Monday night. No immediate appointment as to Miss Buelow's successor has been made.

The report for the month of October showed that during that month an average of slightly over 18 patients daily had been treated in the hospital. The total number of hospital days was 572. Members of the board confirmed the sale of the nurses' home to Mr. and Mrs. David Foren of Chigwell, and authorized transfer of title, deed and other papers to the purchaser. The sale was made through the Fraser-MacDonald Agency.

FLOODING OF HOCKEY RINK AT CLIVE STARTED

(From Our Own Correspondent)

CLIVE—Flooding of the hockey rink here started over the week-end as members of the local hockey club laid down the first coat of ice, using water from Bachor's pond. Up to the present, skating enthusiasts have been skating on Bachor's pond, but the hockey rink will be ready shortly.

Boards of Trade Unite in Efforts To Raise Lake

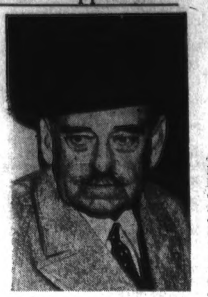
Rimbey, Bentley and Lacombe Represented at Meeting Held Here Last Thursday Night

Executive committees of Bentley and Rimbey Boards of Trade were the guests of the Lacombe and District Board of Trade at a dinner and executive meeting held in the Adelphi Hotel last Thursday night. Members of the Gull Lake village council also attended.

James A. McKinnon, M.P. from Edmonton, was present at the meeting, and heard a discussion on the possibility of diverting the water from the Blindman River into Gull Lake to raise that body of water to its normal level. The various bodies felt it was a feasible project, and desire a survey made by a qualified engineer. It was pointed out that if the report proved that the scheme was not practicable, or the cost prohibitive, the matter would be dropped. It was generally thought, however, that the scheme was worthy of a thorough investigation. Mr. McKinnon admitted he was much impressed with the information he had obtained and promised to take the matter up with the Federal authorities at Ottawa. It was unanimously decided to support Mr. McKinnon in his efforts to have the matter thoroughly investigated, by each respective Board of Trade sending a resolution to this effect.

J. S. McCormick, president of the local Board of Trade, presided.

New Appointment



Field Marshal Sir P. Chetwode

The War Office announced in London recently that Field Marshal Sir Philip Chetwode had been appointed honorary colonel of the 2/10th Dragoons of the non-permanent active militia of Canada. Sir Philip commanded an army corps at the taking of Jerusalem during the Great War and from 1930 until 1935 was commander-in-chief of the army in India.

Town to Operate Skating Rink for 1938-1939 Season

The Town of Lacombe will operate the skating rink here this year. This was decided when a delegation consisting of R. Lewis and E. C. Martin, executive members of the hockey club, appeared before the Town Council Tuesday night. Considerable discussion as to the terms on which the hockey club and Town should operate was discussed, but it was finally decided by the Council that 60 per cent of all hockey game receipts should go to the hockey club, and 40 per cent to the Town.

All expenses as to electric lighting, water and fuel will be paid by the Town. All other sources of revenue—from skating, carnivals, etc.—will go to the Town of Lacombe.

CURLING RINK WORK WELL UNDER WAY

Flooding at the local curling club rink will start some time this week, weather permitting, it was learned from club officials early this week. The bases of the four sheets are already laid, with mild weather only holding up the actual flooding.

Lacombe to Enter Hockey Six in Five-Team Central Alberta Hockey League

Camrose, Wetaskiwin, Stettler, Red Deer And Lacombe to Make Up League; Will Operate Independently of Alberta A.H.A.

Lacombe will enter a hockey team in the Central Alberta Hockey League, consisting of Wetaskiwin, Camrose, Stettler, Red Deer and Lacombe. The league was formed at a meeting of officials of the various hockey clubs held here on Sunday in the Town Hall. A resolution to the effect that this league will operate independently of the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association was unanimously passed at the meeting. Following a full discussion of the question it was felt that it would be to the advantage of the league to withdraw from the A.A.H.A. and join the Alberta Athletic Union. The thought was expressed that the A.A.H.A. fostered senior hockey in the province to the detriment of Intermediate and Junior Hockey. Under the league's present set-up, the winner of this league will not compete in either the Morgan or the Black cup play-offs.

Residence rulings for the clubs in the Intermediate Hockey League were set by the meeting, and play-off arrangements made. The schedule for the league will be drawn up by members of the Stettler Hockey Club executive, and the schedule will wind up by the end of February. Play-off games will start early in March, with teams holding first and third, and the second and fourth place teams playing home and home games, total goals to count. The winners of these two series will play two out of three games, the team with the highest standing in the league to have the privilege of two home games if a third game is necessary.

Five Towns Represented

Representatives from each of the five towns to place teams in the league were present at the meeting. In the absence of the former president, R. M. MacKenzie, the chair was occupied by J. Charlesworth. The following officers were elected: Honorary president, R. MacKenzie, Lacombe; president, W. Dunlap, Stettler; vice-president, R. Lewis, Lacombe; secretary-treasurer, J. Shaw, Lacombe. Executive committee: A. Kennedy, Stettler; C. F. Richards, Wetaskiwin; C. Richardson, Red Deer; R. Lewis, Lacombe, and R. Capstick, Camrose.

It was agreed that two officials must act during each league game, with the visiting club having the privilege of supplying the referee and the home town club the judge of play.

Lions Club to Hold Carnival Dec. 1 and 2

To augment collections on a Christmas fund, the Lions Club of Lacombe decided to hold a carnival in the Central Alberta Pavilion on Dec. 1 and 2. Lunch concessions will be given and a jitney dance held. Dan MacDonald was named as chairman of a committee in charge of arrangements, with John MacDonald, Bert Ford and Bert Thompson on his committee.

Two or three turkey shoots will be held on Saturday during the month of December, probably in the old Comet theatre building, it was decided, with Jim McWilliam in charge of a committee consisting of Bob MacKenzie, Jack McKenzie, Bob Park and Hal Laird.

LOCAL HUNTERS RETURN

Annual Meeting of Crown Ratepayers Set for Feb. 17

Councillors Seek Solution of Heavy Hospital, Medical and Relief Bills; Interview Renshaw

The annual meeting of the ratepayers of the Municipal District of Crown will be held in the Avalon Theatre, Lacombe, on Friday, Feb. 17, 1939, it was decided at a council meeting of that municipality held in the Municipal Office here Thursday of last week. C. W. Braithwaite was appointed returning officer for the elections during February of next year, and the polling booths for the elections in February were decided upon.

Councillors A. Hall and M. Armstrong were appointed delegates to attend the Association convention to be held in Calgary shortly. A resolution "that the Lacombe School Fair be given a grant of $60.00; Clive, $20.00, and Red Deer $10.00," was passed.

Reeve O.W. Hueppeltheuser and Councillor W. Parker were appointed a delegation of two to interview J. Renshaw, Chief Inspector of Municipalities, in Edmonton shortly, in respect to relief, hospital and doctors' accounts, the object being to find a solution to this heavy annual expenditure.

Considerable discussion regarding the cutting of green wood on Municipal properties, such wood being subsequently sold for firewood, took place. It was finally decided that "no green wood shall be taken from 80 acres belonging to the M.D. Crown at Morningside."

It was decided that the annual tax sale should be held on Dec. 17. Accounts and pay rolls for the month were examined and passed.

Cain and Abel Live in Peace West of Lacombe

Imagine Cain and Abel living living in peace and tranquility within a few miles of each other! It sounds impossible, but it's a fact, for George Abel farms in the Spruceville district west of Lacombe and a few miles further out on Gull Lake Trail Wm. Caine, his friend, also farms. In the Biblical story two characters of the same name quarreled unto death, but Lacombe district's Caine and Abel have kept the peace for many years.

Remembrance Day Services Here Friday Well Attended

Armistice Services Conducted at United Church

Conducted by Rev. A. L. Carr, Armistice services were held on Sunday evening at St. Andrew's United Church. Taking as his text Isaiah 2:4, Mr. Carr said this theme of peace had been the vision of Christ as well as that of many of the prophets, and is still the vision of the Christian church. There is a strong tendency in the world today to lower the standards of honesty and morality, those standards that make for true manhood and womanhood and national and international integrity, so that agreements are treated as "scraps of paper."

The principles of the Christian religion, accepted by every individual, offer the real solution to obtaining a lasting peace. This year's Armistice ceremonies were both a Remembrance and Thanksgiving service, said Mr. Carr. Remembrance of the war dead, and Thanksgiving that another war had been averted.

A double quartet sang "Heroes We Honored Today," those in the quartet being Miss M. Watt, Miss B. DeLong, Mrs. E. A. Bowering and Mrs. H. E. Wilson, D. Wilkes, R. Rhind, T. Wilkes and J. Shaw.

Under the auspices of the Lest-We-Forget Club and the Canadian Legion, both of which organizations attended the ceremonies in a body, Armistice services were held in Memorial Park on Friday, Nov. 11. In use for the first time was a new sixty-foot flag pole, from which floated a new flag purchased by the Lest-We-Forget Club. The pole was donated by Fred Butcher, Sr., he having cut the tree and peeled it ready for use.

Officiating as chairman, Acting Mayor T. Wilks referred to the recent European crisis, which he said reminded returned men of the catastrophe of 1914-18. Soldiers of those days had thought they were fighting a war to end wars, and he wondered what his fallen comrades would have thought could they have known of the recent situation.

Rev. W. E. Herbert pronounced the Invocation and Rev. F. W. Coxson read the 91st Psalm; S. J. Hallon placed the Legion wreath on the cenotaph and Mrs. E. H. Aldwinckle placed the Lest-We-Forget wreath.

Stirring Address

"Without Death There Cannot Be Life," was the theme of a stirring address by Rev. S. J. Waterman. "Death is looked upon as the end instead of the beginning, but that is not true, he declared. Using grain as a symbol, Mr. Waterman, himself a returned man, pointed out that while death destroys the body of the grain, yet in its heart lies the germ of life, and that life has the power to reproduce the grain in abundant measure to provide food for the human family. So that death is necessary—without it the whole world would die. There must be a limited application of death to give life, as it applies to our fallen comrades, he continued. "I do not under-

OLD BUILDING BEING TORN DOWN TO MAKE ROOM FOR MODERN BUILDING

An old land mark of Lacombe is rapidly being demolished. The old building on Nanton Street which has lately been used as a Tire Repair Shop by Fred Taylor is being torn down to make room for a modern store, which will be built next year by J. H. Jardine, formerly of Red Deer. The trees have been chopped down and it is expected that, by next week, the building will be a place of the past.

T. Wilks Elected Mayor Of Town of Lacombe at Council Meeting Tuesday

T. Wilks was elected mayor of the Town of Lacombe by the Town Councillors at the regular meeting held in the Town Office Tuesday night. Mr. Wilks will serve out the term as mayor left vacant through the resignation of ex-Mayor E. H. Jones, which was received and accepted at the Tuesday night meeting. Mr. Wilks, in taking over the duties as mayor of Lacombe, automatically resigns as councillor of the Town. His previous duties as chairman of the Public Works Committee fall on Councillor W. Avery.

The office of mayor was first offered to P. C. Owen by the councillors present, as he had served the longest single term on the Town Council. Mr. Owen, however, turned down the office, and a ballot was taken.

Mr. Wilks, in his capacity as mayor of the town, will stand for election for this office before the ratepayers of the Town of Lacombe at the annual elections in February, 1939.

Mr. R. P. Thompson, executive officer for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, appeared before the council requesting an increased grant for the support of his institution. A request for a dairy permit was received from Mrs. E. R. Tillotson, and the permit authorized.

Considerable discussion took place regarding the expenses of medical and hospital care for indigent relief cases in Lacombe, but no definite solution was found. Councillor T. Wilks presented a report of the meeting which he and Mr. Owen had last week with Calgary Power officials regarding the commercial light rates in the Town. An optional basis of charging on light and power has been drawn up by the Calgary Power and will become effective shortly.

The hogs escaped from the truck, one being killed.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S GROUP HOLD SOCIAL AND DANCE

The Young People's group of St. Andrew's United Church and a number of guests enjoyed a social and dance in the Church Hall on Monday evening. Although the attendance was not as good as expected, those present had a good time, especially during the square dances, which were thoroughly enjoyed. A delightful lunch brought the evening to a conclusion.

First Lacombe School Built In 1893

THE history of the Lacombe School is one which is a model of co-operation. It exemplifies the fine pioneer spirit of the West at its best—at a time when Alberta was a vast wilderness of trees, plains and uninhabited territories. It was in the year 1892 that the Lacombe School District was first formed. The first school was built in the spring of 1893, the contract for the building being given to John Taylor, who died about eight years ago in the Lochinvar district. During the winter of 1892-1893, Mr. Taylor worked in the Spruce Swamp, one and one-half miles east of Lacombe, felling trees and obtaining logs with which to build the school. In the spring of 1893, farmers and residents of and around the town staged a "bee," and hammers and axes were wielded as the first school rapidly went up.

The property on which the school was built, on the east of the Calgary and Edmonton railway line, was put up for auction, and the bid from the Town of Lacombe successfully obtained the property. The school district was named the Nelson School District, in honor of Rev. John Nelson, a missionary to the Hobbema Indians in the early days. (At the time of formation of this school district, a school in the Calgary vicinity already bore the name of the Lacombe School District).

The building up and completed, the School Board, consisting of Jake Dolmage, Henry Talbot and Frank Vickerson, engaged a teacher by the name of Briggs, who took charge of the first classes held in the late spring or summer of 1893. Students from a radius of twenty miles attended the school, some more or less irregularly as the season demanded. Some students attended the school all summer, as for the entire threshing period they were too busy on their parents' farms to bother with studies.

On March 5, 1894, Miss Elsie Green took charge of the school for one year, and was afterwards married to Edward Barnett, the first settler in this district.

The late Peter Talbot (later Senator Talbot of Canada) and William Laidman also taught in this old log schoolhouse which served the children of the district for so many years.

It was in 1897 that an unofficial meeting was held to consider providing more accommodation for school purposes. Classes were overcrowded and floor space at a premium in the log

We Congratulate the Legion

CONGRATULATIONS to the local branch of the Canadian Legion! Friday night, Remembrance Day, the most successful amateur contest ever held in Central Alberta drew a crowd of well over 1200 people to the Central Alberta Pavilion here. Nineteen contestants competed for the prizes offered, and provided first-class entertainment for the large crowd assembled in the building.

An amateur contest such as the one presented Friday night proves to the artists competing and the audience alike the calibre of talent in Central Alberta. It is an encouraging point to note that this talent compares favorably on the whole with the talent developed in other centres.

And so another amateur contest is over, and to the Canadian-Legion and the Lest-We-Forget Club, we doff our hats.

Food For Thought

WITH the advent of the winter months and the shortening of the days, the deficiencies in Lacombe's downtown street lighting system are becoming even more apparent. Street lights which are not called upon until nine or ten o'clock at night during the summer months, are pressed into service at five o'clock in the evenings during the winter months—and they fail just as miserably in their duty of providing sufficient light at five o'clock as they do later on at night.

These present street lamps are too few, and of too small a lighting capacity to provide this town with proper street lighting. Why should this town lag behind other centers of lesser population in the matter of street lighting? The businesses and stores are here in sufficient number to warrant the best in street lighting equipment. This proposition of street lighting should be delved into, investigated and decided upon before the Calgary Power franchise comes up for renewal next year. Now is the time to work on it—before a new ten-year franchise is signed.

In the meantime, the merchants and business men of this town may themselves improve the lighting of downtown streets. By leaving store window lights on for a few extra hours after closing on week nights, the general appearance of Lacombe could be improved—and general appearance goes a long way in the business world.

The whole question of lighting downtown Lacombe streets its a big one—and one that needs a lot of thought, so think it over.

Larger School Units Again

(From the Brockville Recorded)

A PROFESSOR of Dalhousie University, addressing the Union of New Brunswick Municipalities a few days ago, made vigorous advocacy of county units of school administration. "In every direction," he said, "wherever you attack educational problems, you find you cannot get on for one reason—that units of school administration are too small."

It has never been argued, as far as we are aware, that county school boards should be introduced in this province. But educationists have argued for years, and are continuing to argue, that much greater efficiency, and considerable saving, would obtain if we abandoned our boards of trustees for each individual school section and replaced them with township boards. Rural ratepayers have not, howevr, subscribed to this reform, and prefer to retain the long-existing educational set-up.

It is sometimes considered that this is an entirely new idea which the educational authorities desire to wish upon the rural municipalities. If, however, the annual report of Egerton Ryerson for the year 1870—68 years ago—be examined, it will be found that he then advocated the establishment of township school boards to replace local trustee boards at the option of the ratepayers.

Egerton Ryerson appreciated almost 70 years ago that there would be gains to education and to the ratepayers themselves from the substitution of township school boards for local boards of trustees. But the great mass of rural ratepayers have yet to share the views which he then expounded.

Through the Eyes of a Country Woman

By BRIDGET

For many years there has been a school of thought advocating the secession of Western Canada from the Dominion. Lately, this subject has been brought to the fore again by the action of the United Farmers of Canada (Saskatchewan Section) in discussing this topic, and recommending it to their Board for further study and consideration. To some it appears an alarming thing to even suggest, almost a treasonable thought! Look at it, though, from an ordinary common-sense point of view, and I believe it will commend itself to many of us.

To begin with, the East and the West differ geographically to a very great extent. Travellers in Quebec might well think that British Columbia was not in the same country. The rugged beauty of the Rockies is in strange contrast to the stony stretches of Ontario. The lush vegetation of Central Alberta is vastly different to the endless, dreary waste lands of parts of the Maritimes. The small Western towns and cities differ very greatly in custom and structure from the Eastern towns and cities, which might have been built for a much longer period.

The people of the East might well be of an almost different ancestry. It must be remembered that the East has been peopled to a great extent for the last three hundred years; the West is a new proposition, which in the first place was at the mercy of the get-rich-quick speculators. For the last quarter of a century or better it has been trying to build itself a place in the Dominion. Unfortunately, even now, some of the West hasn't got its roots sufficiently in the soil, parts of it are still groping for a quick "cure-all" and floundering like a teen-age child in the mire of muddled thinking. But, one thing is clear to the Westerner, a very large percentage of Canada's wealth did come from the golden fields of the wheat they grew. The East has handled this wealth to their own advantage for many years, but when the West fell on lean days it was altogether a different story.

Now, the point seems to me to be, that the West has now grown up, and yet it is not allowed to control its own wealth, or its own destiny, because, being so much less populated, it can never have a deciding voice in the Federal Parliament.

The East has called the West its "poor relation"; now, I think that it is really stupid of it to point this out, because the East has made most of its money through the West and perhaps it is the raison d'etre of the West's "poverty."

The East has its factories (here is the cause of those protective and contentious tariffs), it has fruit lands, fisheries and mines, but is, in the main, industrial. The West has, first and foremost, its agricultural activities. Now, however, can be added oil and mineral wealth, with the Province of British Columbia supplying large quantities of fruit and fish. These two parts of the Dominion of Canada have their own problems which they should be able to solve themselves, if they had a chance. But, the West has NO chance, as they can never have the preponderance of votes in the Federal House, as already stated, to procure that chance. It is absolutely impossible to expect Eastern members, mainly industrialists, to appreciate our Western problems from an agriculturalist's viewpoint. Perhaps, if we remember that the East has formed a set of traditions, and stands on a sound footing of ideals comparable to Old Country standards, while the West is groping around, trying to build a firm structure for future development, we can appreciate the divergent viewpoint.

So, doesn't secession seem to be just a common-sense step to study, at least? Surely the East would be glad to get rid of her "poor relation," and the West should be glad to be responsible for her own destiny. With a Western Parliament for the four Western Provinces, a more intelligent administration would be possible, as the problems of the West interlock. The West could then handle her own source of wealth, and, being very modern-minded, could barter profitably for the goods she requires, without having resource to the complicated industrial business methods of the East.

There is nothing treasonable in this thought, as we would be in exactly the same position as we are now to the Crown, perhaps even a little nearer. All these little, fussy Provincial Legislatures might be deemed unnecessary in a set-up of this sort, leaving the West really a Sovereign State, competent to deal with its own financial worries. After all, these Provincial Legislatures have limited powers only, and the internal problems of the province could be dealt with by a council of capable men at much less cost, cutting out all the panopoly of State. It is the hope of a "cushy" job that makes a lot of people in favor of Provincial Legislatures.

It is time we Westerners made a fitting place for ourselves in history. We are, each year, becoming more stable, more firmly rooted in the land of our choosing, and we should be allowed to guide more closely our progress.

At any rate, it is a problem well worth while thinking over, discussing, and studying. If it be the wisest step to take, I do not presume to say, but I do recommend the subject to your notice for careful consideration.

Interesting Session Of Provincial Government Opens In Edmonton

By T. B. WINDROSS

EDMONTON.—With the opening this week of another session of the Legislature—the seventh session since the 1935 election—the Alberta electorate stood some chance of getting some information on what is actually happening in the government and among private members.

There is good reason for believing that the provincial government can be expected to announce an election shortly after Their Majesties the King and Queen visit this province, next May or June. Although Aberhart has been cultivating Camrose riding for months past and might be expecten to make himself candidate there if he were to run for re-election at all, there are signs that he will not run at all.

The fact that the Social Credit candidate won the Athabaska bye-election last week gave them but little encouragement, privately. The facts that the margin of victory was very close, that even that slim margin was obtained only by such a concentration of government forces as would not be possible in all ridings in a general election, and that Athabaska was the best field in the province for Social Credit propaganda at the time, all detracted from any undue optimism. Also important was the fact that it was merely a bye-election, giving the electors the choice between being friendly with the present government in hope of concessions, or of electing a member to the opposite side without hope of patronage. When the opportunity comes, with a general election, to get a new government in Edmonton, there may be a different story in the ballots even in Athabaska.

Expected to consume much time in the new session of the House is the Oil and Gas Conservation Act; the government wants to fix up some clauses in the hope of killing all efforts to have the present act thrown out.

Other bills on the agenda include minor amendments to the Hail Insurance Act and to the Debt Adjustment Act, and also to the School Act to ensure that authority heretofore vested in district trustees can be taken over by the boards in charge of the enlarged divisions.

An act to validate the spending of $200,000 for the establishment of the "treasury branches" which have been sent up by the government also must be passed; the money was provided first by order-in-council without any legislative authority, and now the government must ask the legislature for the right to do what already has been done.

So far, nine of the "treasury branches" have been established but there has been no rush of business in them as far as can be discovered here. Indications are that the whole idea of the government going into the banking business has proved already an unprofitable failure.

School Patrols Reduce Accidents

Extension of school safety patrols is reported to be gaining popularity in this province, so much so that fresh steps along this line are expected to be taken soon in various centres. In all likelihood, this question will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Alberta Motor Association next month, when receiving a report on work done this year.

Those interested in the establishment of school safety patrols point to Portland, Oregon, where eight years have passed without a single child having been killed on the way to or from school. Small wonder that the patrol movement has such strong support in Portland.

Driver Training Classes

Besides giving attention to the school patrols, some centres are also developing a program of driver training classes. In one large U.S. city driver education and driver training are being made a part of the regular school curriculum. It is proposed to establish full time classes and specialized instruction, with full credit for the work done.

In Edmonton, school patrols have been organized and good results have been reported. It is planned to extend the work.

With these satisfactory reports of the work, it is expected that various towns also will take steps to start boy patrols. This work has had the effect everywhere of reducing accidents, through instilling in the school child's mind the need to "stop, look and listen."

Gull Lake

(From Our Own Correspondent)

GULL LAKE.—E. W. Dowling, local teacher, attended the Teachers' convention in Lacombe last week.

Max Moore has the foundation laid for his new house east of Hugg's corner on the Bentley-Lacombe highway.

Many huge flocks of Canada geese went south just before the snow storm.

Walton Museum Of Early Angling To Be Restored

STAFFORD, England. — The cottage of Izaak Walton, who wrote "The Compleat Angler," is to be restored once again, according to a decision of the trustees.

When the cottage, at Shallowford, near here, was burned out last May and most of the relics of early angling, for which it was a museum, were destroyed, it sustained its second fire since being opened as a Walton memorial 14 years ago. It stands near the railway line and is a half-timbered thatched building. There seems to be little doubt that both fires were caused by sparks from passing trains igniting the thatched roof.

Fortunately the most valuable documents connected with Walton, including the recently discovered title deeds of the property, were in safe keeping elsewhere when the fire took place. The glass panel over some very old wattle and daub work in one of the rooms protected these relics from damage.

Eastern Workmen and their Families Eat over $20,000,000 worth of Western Meats and Butter

THE Eastern industrial worker likes Western food and he buys plenty of it — when he's working.

For instance, take an item like meat. Eastern sales alone brought the West nearly $20,000,000 in 1936. Sale of 10,000 tons of butter brought in nearly $5,000,000 more, while grain products, poultry and eggs meant another $15,000,000 in Western pockets.

That's why it's so vital to the West to keep the Eastern worker busy. And one way you help do it is by the purchase of a Canadian-built car, for an active Automotive Industry keeps many other industries humming — and all their workers and their families must be fed.

Of course, your money goes East — but it comes back to you in no uncertain fashion: in the purchases of your best customer, the industrial East, that aggregate over $40,000,000 a year.

For statistical and further information about this industry, write to Automotive Industries, 1006 Lumsden Building, Toronto.

"Better than I expected," said the friend, "I've let it out to four men already."

Tees Tattle Tales

By TATTLER

TEES.—Many and varied were the presents at a shower held in honor of the ex-Miss Gladys Marshall on Friday evening, Nov. 11, in the local hall. A goodly number of friends from Lacombe, Alix and Tees turned out to fill the hall and enjoy the blushes of the bride and groom, in addition to doing the light fantastic around the floor.

Due to the many and varied pick-me-up programs on the air these days, there was not near the rush on the town pump to quench that terrible thirst after the 11th. But all the stores in town have had to get in new supplies of Aspirin tablets, and they are thanking the radio for cleaning them out of old stock.

A good full car of localites motored to Edmonton Thursday, some on business, some on pleasure, and some under the doctor's care. By Monday afternoon the last ones dribbled home on the old reliable "Blue Flea."

To Attend Session

D. B. McMillan, M.L.A., departed for Edmonton Sunday, where he will attend the special short session of the Legislature.

Miss Jean Putnam and her sister Helen, who teacher school near Erskine, visited Calgary over the week-end and holiday, returning Sunday night.

Fragments from both sides in the last war paid tribute to the dead Friday morning, and then staged a banquet and reunion during the evening. The only stipulation was service in some army. Those of the enemy forces were greeted as comrades and a very enjoyable time was had by all.

Sveral cars have taken to the ditch lately, due to the new snow and ice, but no serious crack-ups have been reported.

MEADOWBROOK BOYS TO ATTEND BOYS' PARLIAMENT

Geoffrey Morrish and Roy Kinley, both of the Meadowbrook School District, will represent the five Trail Ranger Groups of the Morningside Circuit at the Boys' parliament to be held in Edmonton some time during December. The five groups in this circuit are Morningside, Iowalta, Meadowbrook, Elkhorn and Fairview.

BEAUTY PROBLEMS

DISCUSSED BY

Barbara Lynn

Eminent Beauty Authority and Adviser, who writes weekly articles on Beauty Problems for many Canadian Newspapers.

Superfluous hairs are certainly an affliction to many women. Those who suffer from them are often disheartened and distracted, because they seem so difficult to eradicate.

In recent weeks my mailbag has carried an increasing number of letters from girls and women who complain of unwanted hair. This is customary at the end of Summer, because the hot weather brings out downy growths on women not normally subject to this blemish. The cold weather sometimes destroys these "seasonal" growths; in other cases, the slight growth remains, but at least gets no worse.

Here is a bleaching treatment that helps in cases where there is a slight growth on the face: Mix three tablespoonfuls of hydrogen peroxide with six drops of ammonia. If the skin is very tender, add another tablespoonful of peroxide to weaken the bleach.

In applying this solution, use a piece of clean absorbent cotton and allow the liquid to dry on the face.

Correspondents often enquire about electrolysis as a cure for superfluous hair. In some cases it is true, this treatment seems effective. Unfortunately, though, in so many instances, scars are inflicted that remain on the face permanently.

Electrolysis is quite expensive, and is necessarily a slow process, as each hair must be treated separately by an electrically charged needle.

A method that has been in vogue for some time in France seems to me to be the most effective treatment for this distressing blemish, as it is entirely free from danger, and does offer a reasonable assurance of complete eradication of unwanted hair.

My leaflet on "Superfluous Hair" gives detailed information and methods of overcoming this blemish. You may obtain a copy and any of the following leaflets by sending a 3c stamp for each one required: How to Slim; Reducing in Spots; The Face and Its Care; Bust Development; Eye Beauty; Hand Beauty; Your Hair; Care of the Feet; Underweight.

BLACKFALDS. — The storm which covered the southern part of the province last week took us in its stride and gave us a liberal supply of snow, with temperatures around zero, sending the most hardy among us into our winter woollies.

Despite the stormy weather, there was a good attendance at the W.W. chicken supper held at the hall last Wednesday night, and the ladies prospered accordingly.

Mr. Minton came down from Edmonton on Friday night to join his wife at the Riis farm, but the cold weather caused both to return to Edmonton next day.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION

Editor, Lacombe Globe:

Dear Sir.—In your issue of Nov. 10, Mr. MacMillan, M.L.A., is quoted at some length in support of the larger school unit. He termed as "petty politics" the petition of ratepayers in M.D. Crown. "I am glad," he says, "that Premier Aberhart refused to grant the people immunity from the larger school district"; further, "it was signed by a lot of people who did no know what they were signing"; also, "it may cost you two or three mills more —I don't know."

Ratepayers of Lacombe district still have the booklet issued by the Minister of Education shortly after taking office, in which he quoted the great savings to be effected by adoption of the larger school unit.

Mr. Thurber, who is high pressure salesman of the new act and who has already organized several units in this province, surely knows his onions. Speaking of the Rocky Mountain unit, he said ten mills were levied. This was found inadequate, borrowing powers in the act were useless ("all Albertans know why); a debenture issue had no takers. The same source, in speaking of the Red Deer larger unit, quoted the assessment in the various Municipal Districts comprising that unit and said ten mills would be required to start with.

For the ten-year period 1928-1938, M.D. of Crown average mill rate for school purposes was seven mills. Average assessment for a quarter section is $3,000; ten mills means $30 per quarter section. The larger unit will thus hoist taxes about an average of $10 per quarter section—so much for the Aberhart booklet.

Present uncollected school taxes for the province average over two years in arrears. The year 1937, with fair grain prices, was the best collection period for ten years. Yet M.D. of Crown (one of the best) is one and one-third years in arrears; a neighboring M.D., Blindman, is four years in arrears. A large proportion of our people go without proper food and clothing in order to pay their taxes. What does the future hold with taxes greatly increased?

Perhaps the worst feature of the new act is the total absence of local autonomy. Bismarck said, "Give me twenty years in charge of a country's educational system and I shall have everyone thinking as I do." All the world knows the tragic aftermath. All Albertans would do well to study the new School Act from this angle. The method of electing divisional boards is faulty and negative to all democratic ideals. Why should not superintendents be engaged and paid by divisional boards, as in other countries where the larger unit is functioning, instead of being wholly a creature of the Minister as in the new Act?

The Alberta School Trustees' Association turned down the larger school unit on several occasions, and everywhere ratepayers voted, it was turned down well over 90 per cent. In the district where the writer resides a meeting of the ratepayers was held. The School Act was read and debated for a several-hour session. The vote was 100 per cent against.

The vote pro and con in the larger school unit was not a petition and was not exclusively confined to M.D. of Crown, but was voted on by several municipalities throughout the province. The large school unit has been forced upon an unwilling electorate by our representatives in the Legislature, who are over 90 per cent ex-teachers and whose heads are stuffed with theory but woefully lacking in common sense.

Since the 1935 election, ratepayers have had their noses forced so close to the grindstone that petty politics has been the exclusive plaything of our M.L.A.'s. It might be pertinent to ask if "I don't know" is Mr. MacMillan's ideal of what a paid representative in Alberta's Legislature should know; also, why he is glad to see the Premier veto the wishes of nearly 100 per cent of the rural electors in Lacombe constituency.

If our present masters (not public servants) had the courage of their so-called convictions, why not delay this utterly undemocratic act at least until they get that famous fountain pen working?

RATEPAYER.

Bentley

(From Our Own Correspondent)

BENTLEY. — Mr. and Mrs. Vandervoort left by motor last week for a month's holiday in Arizona and other points.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thorp spent the week-end with relatives here, returning to Edmonton on Sunday.

Messrs. W. W. Whitesell, M. S. Witherell, L. Craig, R. Gideon and W. Ingraham returned on Friday from a two weeks' hunting trip in the Drayton Valley district. They were successful in getting two moose, one elk and a deer.

J. Patrick and daughters Lily and Irene and Mrs. Hazel Garries' children visited Mrs. Patrick and Mrs. Garries at Ponoka on Sunday.

Born at Bentley to Mr. and Mrs. R. Burton of Lacombe, Nov. 8, a son; to Mr. and Mrs. H. McIntyre, on Nov. 1, a daughter.

Enjoyed the Program

A good many from Bentley attended the Amateur Contest held at Lacombe last Friday evening. All seemed well pleased with the entertainment and also elated with the fact that 10 of Bentley's youngsters, ranging from 4 to 10 years of age, together with four Red Deer children, all pupils of Miss Brenna Reed, were successful in winning first honors in the Junior Class.

J. Taylor of Daysland is relieving at the Bank of Montreal during Mr. Vandervoort's absence on holidays.

Miss Bennet of Edmonton has been the guest of Mrs. L. Craig for the past two weeks.

Mr. Duncan and family, who have been occupying the Pedersen property, have moved to the cottage they have lately erected.

MATES

A school teacher spoke to his class recently on how words became inseparably associated with each other in pairs, instancing Darby and Joan, ham and eggs, pepper and salt.

Then he asked what was associated with the name "Pict" and received the unanimous answer of "Shovels."

schoolhouse. Many schemes were proposed, the majority favoring the building of a two-room building within the town limits. Some opposition was given to this scheme, however, and a more serious problem caused the question to be dropped for the time being.

Dispute Over Boundaries

A small area of land lying between the Nelson School District and the Turville School District was not included in any school zone, and representations were made to the Department of Education to define the limits of each school zone. It was decided to form a new school district immediately east of Lacombe and residents immediately east of here demanded that the west boundary of the new school district should take in all the territory west to the Lacombe Townsite.

The town section would not stand for this, and discussion and negotiations became the topic of the hour. Finally, the Central School District was formed, leaving the Nelson Zone with three rows of quarter sections east of Lacombe Townsite within the Nelson School District . . . and so the summer of 1899 was spent in settling school boundaries.

As accommodation at the log schoolhouse in Lacombe became even more acute, this subject came up once more after the boundaries had been definitely settled. W. F. Puffer was re-elected trustee in January, 1900, and with C. T. Daykin and J. J. Gregory, formed the School Board. A contract was given to James Davidson to build a four-room building on a block of land north of Barnet Avenue, between Day and Stanley Streets. In the meantime, accommodation for another school room was provided in a building rented from Mr. Van Alstin on Nanton Street. Miss Morphy of Olds was engaged to teach this room.

New School Built

The new four-room school was built in 1900 and occupied in 1901. The late Senator P. Talbot and Miss Bertha C. Boyd (now Mrs. W. N. Morrison) were the teachers when the school rooms were moved. A local girl, Miss Gertrude Reynolds, was engaged to teach the third room on April 1, 1901. It was at this time, April 1, 1901, that the first available rate of assessment for school purposes is found. All previous written information has been lost, presumably in one of Lacombe's disastrous fires.

Angus M. MacDonald was engaged as the first principal of the Lacombe School in 1901, and Miss E. Halliday as primary teacher. Mr. MacDonald was later a judge of the District Court at Macleod, and Miss Halliday is head of the Department of Household Economics in the University of Chicago.

The next item of interest in the history of the Lacombe school is in 1903, at which time the assessment on lands within the district for school purposes was set at 10 mills on the dollar, an increase of two mills over the previous rate. On June 22, 1903, Mr. Mac Donald resigned his position as principal, and was succeeded by Mr. N. E. Carruthers, who was later Town Clerk for Lacombe.

In the summer of 1903 it was decided to open another room, and accordingly a high school room was opened in the Town Hall. Dr. E. M. Sharpe served his first term on the School Board when he was elected to office on April 9, 1904. In December of the same year, a fifth room was fitted above the Fire Hall.

The following year H. M. Trimble resigned as secretary of the School Board and A. M. MacDonald took over his post. About this time agitation for the building of a school of sufficient size to accommodate all the pupils in the district was brought up. By this time various school rooms were spread around town to such an extent that school spirit and unity among the students seemed completely lost. In July of 1905, however, a sixth room was opened when the School Board rented a room from R. Shilletto. This room was above what is now the City Meat Market.

New School Discussed

In February, 1906, the first School Board meeting to actually seriously discuss the question of further accommodation was held, and a building committee appointed. At the next meeting, the committee reported that they had been in contact with T. Clark King, architect, and an estimate of $25,000 for a new eight-room brick school house was submitted. On April 11, 1906, a by-law was passed to raise this sum of money for the purpose of erecting such a building. Ratepayers gave their sanction to the undertaking, and preparation for the building was rapidly completed, with plans and estimates being received from contractors.

Then the School Board struck a snag. A petition from Messrs. Rimbey, Gibson and Johnson, regarding the formation of a new school district (Mountain Grove) was received. The formation of this new school district was such that the boundaries of Nelson school district must be rearranged, and the Nelson School Board strenuously fought the formation of the new school district, but the new school district, carving considerable land from the southern portion of the Nelson school district, was formed.

Debentures Disposed Of

In October, 1906, the debenture issue was disposed of, and tenders called for the erection of the new school. Some trouble arose over the specifications, and before the tender was finally awarded, the plans were changed to make the school a three-storey building, to be erected at a cost of $40,336. Another by-law had to be passed to raise the extra money, and another $20,000 was borrowed by way of debentures.

The building was completed during the spring and summer of 1907, and opened in the fall of that year. Seven rooms were opened at that time, and increased room has been enlarging the space ever since.

"What would you do now?" asked the golfer, turning in desperation to the caddie.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
At all Christian Science churches next Sunday, the subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Soul and Body." One of the Scriptural quotations in the Lesson-Sermon is Psalm 63:1, "O God, thou art my God; early will I seek thee; my soul thirsteth for thee, my flesh longeth for thee in a dry and thirsty land, where no water is." One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, is: "Sooner or later we shall learn that the fetters of man's finite capacity are forged by the illusion that he lives in body instead of in Soul, in matter instead of in Spirit" (p. 223).

Highways Jump Farm Valuations

Just what improved highways mean to a farm has been strikingly demonstrated by a survey made recently in the United States, according to officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

This study indicated that farmers are more and more coming to see that improved highways not only bring them direct and immediate benefits as operators of a business but that by intangibly increasing farm property values, roads provide greater and more lasting benefits.

Effect of the U.S. Survey was that farmers on gravel roads figured their property was worth 20 per cent more than those whose farms were on dirt roads. Those on hard surfaced roads claimed their property was worth 44 per cent more than land on dirt roads.

Of course, in regard to hard surfaced roads, nearness to markets and electrification also are factors in fixing valuations for purposes of comparison.

Results of the U.S. survey bear out the contention of A.M.A. officials that the farmer stands to benefit largely through the building of hard-surfaced roads. Not only does the farmer's property increase in value, but he is also enabled to take advantage of the oportunity of serving a valuable cash market, which is created by the tourist trade.

Only way in Alberta to "cash in" to the full on this trade is to build hard-surfaced roads, giving bigger business and larger profits to the farmers.

Outside of That, it Was O.K.

After the address the lecturer asked a member of the audience how he had liked it.

"I had just three faults to find with it," stated the listener.

"And what were they?"

"First, it was read. Second, it wasn't well read. And third, it wasn't worth reading!"

Colorful Wedding at Glasgow

Lord David Douglas-Hamilton, fourth son of the Duke of Hamilton, leaving Glasgow Cathedral with his bride, the former Prunella Stack, leader of the Women's League of Health and Beauty, following their marriage in the presence of 1500 guests, a number of whom came by special train from London. Lord David wore Highland dress of the Royal Stuart tartan.

Teachers' Convention Here Elects Officers for '38-'39

Convention officials elected at the closing session of the annual convention of the Red Deer Teachers' Association were: E. G. Hale, Blackfalds, president; D. A. Ure, Innisfail, vice-president; Miss F. Gaetz, Red Deer, secretary-treasurer; G. R. Shaw, auditor. The convention was held in Lacombe last week.

Speaking on "The Relation of the Teacher to the Larger Unit," Inspector L. Thurber urged the teachers to maintain an attitude of co-operation with their local boards, and that while the Divisional Board would handle teachers' contracts, each teacher should endeavor to place before the local secretary any other matters pertaining to the school which would make for more efficient operation of the school.

An algebra demonstration by Miss E. Capsey of Red Deer opened the Thursday morning session, and Mrs. E. Kenna of Sylvan Lake conducted a music demonstration.

Speaking on "The Interesting aspects of Science," J. Fowler of the Calgary Technical School dressed in a cloak of humor his theme of chemistry.

Following a banquet given by the O.E.S. in the Masonic Hall at noon, E. G. Hale, principal of the Blackfalds school, entertained with an interesting account of customs in India, featuring particularly the whites and their servants and class distinction among Europeans.

Describes Certificate System

G. Haverstock of the Edmonton Normal School went into some detail concerning teachers' certificates and the higher standard which is being demanded of the teaching profession. There are general and special certificates, he said, the latter class being divided into three types—junior, senior and advanced. Mr. Haverstock said that under the new system more supervision would be needed and he urged the teachers to continue their efforts to advance their education as a preparation to take such posts.

The resolutions committee consisted of J. Welch, Red Deer; G. F. Paton, G. Paul and Miss C. Arrowsmith of Blackfalds.

Mr. Welch recommended that locals prepare their resolutions previous to the convention, so that they might be given proper consideration.

To Meet in Red Deer

Next year's convention is to be held in Red Deer, according to decision, and at that time due consideration will be given to meeting in Innisfail, which is now included in this district.

Representing the A.T.A., H. C. Clark of Edmonton spoke on "Collective Bargaining,' and advocated the setting up of a committee to arrange salary schedules.

At the close of the convention, members of the Red Deer and Rocky Mountain House divisions separated to elect their A.T.A. officers, with the following results:

Red Deer—President, R. Moore of Lacombe; vice-president, H. W. Burpee, Eureka Valley; secretary-treasurer, Miss Mabel Dowling, Lacombe; press correspondent, Miss E. Capsey, Red Deer.

Rocky Mountain House—President, E. Castello, Dickson; vice-president, R. Sloan, Markerville; secretary-treasurer, Miss A. Sande, Alhambra; press correspondent, C. A. Weekes, Rocky Mountain House.

Collective Bargaining Committee for Red Deer division will be as follows: H. W. Burpee, W. B. Dawe, Balmoral, and Miss M. Martin, Lakeside.

Mr. Clark urged that each division form sub-locals.

CHOOSY

The hired girl had been sent down to the brook to fetch a pail of water, but stood gazing at the flowing stream, apparently lost in thought.

"What's she waiting for?" asked her mistress, who was watching.

"Dunno," wearily replied her husband. "Perhaps she hasn't seen a pailful she likes yet."

"Martyrs have laid down their lives," he said, "and in that death there has been a release of life. The liberties enjoyed by us today have their roots in the blood of those long since dead." He deplored a recent newspaper story which said that the men of the Great War had died in vain.

Trying Out New Order

"A new order is being tried out," said Mr. Waterman, referring to Premier Chamberlain's efforts to preserve peace, "and I believe in Mr. Chamberlain's policy to the uttermost." Mr. Chamberlain will try every means to avoid a repetition of 1914, and Great Britain is being condemned practically all over the world.

"Why should British money and British boys be spent to heal all the quarrels of the world?" asked the speaker. "But if after every means has been exhausted, failure results, there will be a resistance on the part of Britain such as the world has never seen," he claimed."
